ACTOR, FOUAD HAJJI, LANDS ANOTHER ROLE IN AN AMERICAN TV SHOW AND PARTICIPATES IN BLOCKBUSTER FILM PRODUCTIONS

March 6, 2019 - Actor, Fouad Hajji, lands another role on an American TV show. This time in the 4th season of the crime-drama series "Animal Kingdom". The popular series on TNT starring actors such as Shawn Hatosy and Ellen Barkin is currently in its 3rd season.

End of February, Fouad also landed voice-over work on the American blockbuster movie saga "John Wick: Chapter 3 - Parabellum" starring Keanu Reeves and Hale Berry, which premieres in May this year, as well as in the next Netflix production "Murder Mystery" starring Jennifer Aniston and Adam Sandler.

On March 1, Fouad was nominated for the Belgian Diwan Awards in the category "Art & Culture" which will take place in Brussels at the end of March 2019.

Bio

Fouad Hajji began his career as a breakdancer and quickly reached a high level. His interest for acting developed at the age of 20. He enrolled in drama school Parallax in Brussels and went on to study for 2 years at Flanders Acting Studio. In 2010, he landed a contract with a talent agency in Los Angeles and since then Fouad has been living between Brussels and Los Angeles. He landed his first major role in 2013 on 'NCIS: Los Angeles' opposite Daniela Ruah and Eric Christian Olsen.

Since then his career took off. After several independent films, he is shortlisted for a role on Clint Eastwood's 'American Sniper' as well as 'Killing Jesus', executive produced by Ridley Scott. In 2016, Fouad adds another network show to his resume by guest starring opposite Gary Sinise in the spin-off series Criminal Minds: Beyond Borders followed by a guest star role on the popular CBS series 'Madam Secretary' opposite Tea Leoni.
